By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Former automaker George Romney was Michigan's biggest vote-getter Tuesday as he ran unopposed for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

In other primary elections Tuesday, Sens. Frank Carlson and James B. Pearson won Republican nominations in Kansas and Sen. Edward V. Long, usually a backer of the Kennedy administration, won Democratic nomination in Missouri.

Romney, former president of American Motors, had tallied 380,540 votes with 4,516 of the state's 5,199 precincts counted while Democratic Gov. John B. Swainson, also unopposed, had 266,066 votes.

As expected, Swainson ran ahead in the normally Democratic stronghold of Detroit and Wayne County, while Romney, mentioned as a possible GOP presidential candidate, held a big lead in the usually Republican outstate area.

Voter turnouts were light in all three states with most candidates for major offices having little or no opposition.

In Michigan, Alvin Bentley, a former representative, won the Republican nomination for congressman at-large without opposition. Democratic state chairman Neil Staebler, also unopposed, won his party's nomination. Bentley, like Romney, ran well ahead.

In the only major test of political figures, Sen. Pearson decisively defeated former Gov. Edward Arn of Kansas. Pearson, appointed to the Senate earlier this year after the death of Sen. Andrew Schoepel, seeks election to the remaining four years of the term. Opposing him in November will be Democrat Paul Aylward.

Carlson easily won renomination over former Joe Corpstein. K. L. Smith was running well ahead of Joseph J. Politzer for the Democratic nomination to oppose Carlson this fall.

The only incumbent Kansas House member, with a contest, Republican Rep. George McVey, was losing. Joe Skubitz, former administrative assistant to Sen. Schoepel, held a narrow lead over McVey with only a handful of precincts not reported in the 5th District.

School Will Continue Daily Prayer

MILFORD, Conn. (AP) — The Lord's Prayer will continue to be heard daily in the classrooms of that state's schools. A hearing Tuesday night attended by about 375 persons, the Board of Education voted 5-4 to retain what was described as the "custom" of daily recitation of the prayer.

The meeting—and the board's decision—came about as the result of a petition submitted by five Milford residents last November. "It is our humble contention that the Lord's Prayer is a sectarian religious observance," the petition said. "We believe a public school is not a place for partisan religious observance."

Member Ulric Amena moved that the board retain the "custom" of having the Lord's Prayer said as part of the daily opening exercises.

"This is not a board policy," he said. "This is a custom."

This distinction in wording was made because of discussion about whether a recent decision of the U.S. Supreme Court was applicable.

The court ruled that the official prayer composed by the New York State Board of Regents for use in the public schools of New York State was in violation of the constitutional principle of separation of church and state.

Licenses Needed for Such Sales

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Plans to half the sale of contraceptive and birth control devices at bus and service stations in Arkansas were announced Tuesday by the state Board of Pharmacy.

Woodrow T. Little, a board inspector, said by state law such devices may be sold only through drug stores where at least one registered pharmacist is on duty. State law, Little said, provides "no appliances, drugs or medical preparations intended or having special utility for the prevention of conception or venereal disease shall be sold or otherwise dispensed in the state without a license."

Little said the law issues licenses to wholesalers and to retail drug stores only. Wholesalers, he said, may not legally sell the devices to non-holders of retail drug licenses.

Cotton Crop Estimate 15.1 Million Bales

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department estimated today this year's government-controlled cotton crop at 15,102,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight.

This forecast, the first of the year, compares with 14,318,000 bales produced under a similar restricted control program last year. Production for the 10-year (1951-61) period averaged 13,979,000 bales.

The crop will be supplemented by a carryover of about 7,700,000 the Milford public schools, which is held by the department under a producer price support program.

Domestic and export demand for the 1962-crop supply has been forecast at 15 million bales.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Department of Agriculture estimated today Arkansas cotton farmers will get 551 plants of cotton for every acre planted this year.

The department said Arkansas has 1,350,000 acres prepared for cotton and will produce a total of 1,550,000 bales.

Estimates on three other states exceed the estimate of total bales for Arkansas. The Texas estimated amounted to 4,800,000 bales, and California and Mississippi estimates total 1,740,000 bales each.

Mrs. Kennedy and Caroline Are in Rome

ROME (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy and Caroline arrived in Italy today for a private holiday in an ancient cliff-top villa on the Amalfi coast.

The American president's wife and daughter landed in Rome aboard a Pan American jetliner after a nonstop overnight flight from New York. They traveled aboard a regular commercial flight in a special bedroom converted from a four-seat section.

Mrs. Kennedy and her 4-year-old daughter will spend their holiday in an 11th-century green and white two-story villa at Ravello, 20 miles southeast of Naples. It has been rented by Mrs. Kennedy's sister, Princess Le Radziwill, and her husband, Prince Stanislas.

In the past, Villa Episcopo has housed actress Greta Garbo and conductor Leopold Stokowski, Queen Juliana of The Netherlands, composer Richard Wagner and Italy's late King Victor Emmanuel III.

The 10-room villa overlooks the Bay of Salerno from the highest point in Ravello.

More than 5 Italian police and U. S. Secret Service agents stood by to seal off the First Lady and her small daughter from enthusiastic Italians, eager for a close look at the pair during their two-week stay.

Mayor Lorenzo Mansi asked that signs referring to Mrs. Kennedy as the President's wife be taken down because her visit is private. Now they all refer to her as Jacqueline.

Police officials said despite the enthusiastic preparations, no one will be allowed near Mrs. Kennedy. Tuesday police and U. S. Secret Service agents made a final dry run of their security measures using the Radziwills as stand-ins.

Except for brief trips to the nearby Isle of Capri and the ruins of Pompeii, Mrs. Kennedy is expected to spend most of her time at the villa and at the beach.

'Oliver' Had Viewers Perplexed

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — London's smash musical, "Oliver," had its American premiere Monday night to a sometimes cheering, sometimes perplexed audience.

Oliver Twist, Fagin, the Artful Dodger, Bill Sikes and Nancy come alive in this tuned-up version of Charles Dickens, which appears already destined for financial success in this country.

Whether it will be a Broadway hit remains to be seen—at Christmas, when it opens in New York.

"Oliver" has been hailed as the best musical that the English musical stage has had to offer since the war. It borrows much from Broadway stagecraft—the huge, revolving set is a marvel, and the timing is split-second.

But it is still Dickens, and that means heavily-plotted, thickly-accented material that may evoke American curiosity, if not downright enthusiasm.

Albert Goldberg of the Los Angeles Times cites these differences: "The English take their tea with milk; Americans usually prefer lemon and sugar. Approximately, this is the difference between the English type of musical show, as exemplified in "Oliver," and the familiar American brand."

"There is plenty of evidence, however, that the English custom is not distasteful to an American audience."

American importer David Merrick has booked "Oliver" for seven weeks apiece in Los Angeles and San Francisco and three each in Detroit and Toronto before the New York opening. He says that is enough to pay off the investment, and this method might be one solution for the theater's staggering costs.

The long road tour worries one individual—Lionel Bart, who wrote book, lyrics and music for the show.

Bart's worries are small ones, however. A darkly handsome 32, he is the hottest talent in London musicals, being also responsible for the hits "Fine Aint We They Used To Be" and "Bilts!" His success is remarkable, considering he started in the music world only six years ago.

Bart and director Peter Coe brought six principals from London, and they recruited the rest of the cast in New York. The performers are excellent, especially Georgia Brown as the tragic Nancy, Bruce Prochnik as the wistful Oliver and Clive Revell as the Fagin turned loveable. As in London, Fagin is the hit of the show, supplying the only comedy.

JFK Program Attacked by GOP Leaders

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said today Congress still will be here in October if President Kennedy pushes a "must" legislative program.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the deputy Democratic leader, has outlined a 10-point program discussed at a White House meeting Tuesday. He has said Congress can pass it and wind up its work by Sept. 15.

"Is he kidding?" Dirksen asked in an interview. "The Senate won't even get the trade expansion bill until after Labor Day. The Democratic leaders are holding up the tax revision bill until after that. If Congress does all the things Sen. Humphrey says the President wants done, we'll still be here in October."

Dirksen and other candidates for re-election in the Senate and House are anxious to end the session and get home to campaign. In that situation, the Republican leader said there is likely to be "quite a bit of wreckage from the Kennedy program left behind" when Congress adjourns.

Beside the trade and tax bills, Dirksen said he thinks Kennedy probably will get the communications satellite, drug control and U.N. bond measures Humphrey mentioned. He said youth employment and mass immunization bills have little chance.

He indicated he doesn't believe Kennedy will get any of the tight controls he wants in any farm bill that may be passed. He said there will be a "further attack" in the House on Senate-passed authority for the President to initiate public works projects in a threatened recession.

Dirksen made no predictions about the fate of a committee-approved mass transportation bill. The Democratic policy committee did not act on it Tuesday when it cleared the drug and farm bills for later Senate consideration.

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he hopes to take up the farm bill next week if the Senate can act by then on the communications satellite measure, which will return from the Foreign Relations Committee Friday noon. He said Saturday Senate meetings will be the order of the day for the rest of the session.

Mansfield said the drug bill will follow the farm bill. He would not go beyond that in scheduling any measures.

Woman Who Hired Slayer Put to Death

BULLETIN

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — Elizabeth (Ma) Duncan, an all-possessive mother who hired the murderer of her son's pregnant wife, died today in the San Quentin gas chamber.

By LEIF ERICKSON

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — Elizabeth Ann Duncan, who paid two hired killers $360 to murder her son's wife, is condemned to die in San Quentin's gas chamber today for the crime inspired by her warped mother love.

Barring an unlikely last-minute stay, Ma Duncan, 58, will be strapped into one of the chamber's two death chairs at 10 a. m.

Augustine Baldonado, 28, and Luis Moya, 23, the two tavern drifters who executed their murder contract in November, 1958, by beating, strangling and burying 30-year-old Olga Duncan, will be marched into the gas chamber three hours later.

Frank Duncan, the handsome attorney son whom Ma Duncan could not bear to share with another woman, was turned down by Associate Justice William O. Douglas of the U.S. Supreme Court Tuesday in a plea to have his mother's execution postponed for a third time.

Duncan, now 33, and S. Ward Sullivan, Los Angeles lawyer, flew to Glenwood, Wash., where the vacationing Supreme Court justice granted the futile hearing.

The record now is that the U.S. Supreme Court has twice denied appeals, the California State Supreme Court has upheld the death penalty, and Gov. Edmund G. Brown last week refused clemency.

"Leave the room just as I tell and don't let anyone else have it," the 11-times married Mrs. Duncan told Corona Women's Prison officials Tuesday before departing on the 400-mile auto drive to San Quentin.

"I'll be back," she declared, confident she would escape the California death chamber.

Baldonado and Moya, resigned to their fate since Brown denied clemency last week, were reported in cheerful spirits by W. D. Achuff, associate warden.

Olga Kupezyk, daughter of Mrs. Jessie Kupezyk of Benito, Manitoba, started her tortured romance with Frank Duncan while she nursed Ma Duncan in a Santa Barbara hospital in 1958.

Rusk Calls on Russia to Agree to Testing Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk called in Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin today to put new pressure behind U.S. efforts to reach agreement on a pact to outlaw atomic testing.

Rusk and Dobrynin huddled for an hour and a quarter in Rusk's State Department office while the U.S. foreign affairs chief explained the new U.S. test ban proposals, aides said.

Rusk's meeting with the Soviet envoy, his first since returning from Geneva last month, was described as another effort to get across to the Russians what the United States considers an important proposal.

Parallel efforts are being made by the U.S. disarmament ambassador at Geneva, Arthur Dean, but the Soviet delegates there have informally turned thumbs down. Only today Dean advanced an offer to cut by more than half the number of detection stations proposed to police a test ban treaty.

The Russians resist the whole idea of such stations as a spying device.

According to new U. S. scientific findings, which Rusk said to have outlined to Dobrynin, detection of underground nuclear explosions is easier than previously supposed. Therefore, the United States is scaling down the inspection safeguards it demands in any test ban treaty.

In most of his previous meetings with the Soviet envoy, Rusk has discussed the Berlin dispute.

Dobrynin declined comment as he arrived at Rusk's office, but did tell newsmen, "I have no comment that Premier Khrushchev plans to come to the United Nations this fall."

Scientists and engineers talk of our future climate, an underground TV eye, and airplane safety.

Man's present balmy climate, free of ice ages, looks good for another 20,000 years, and the seasons may even grow warmer.

This is the outlook indicated at least by study of tiny fossils embedded in ocean floors which give a record of past climatic changes, say David B. Erickson and Goesta Wollin, geologist and research associate at Lamont Geological Observatory.

The fossils of one-celled animals indicate the last Ice Age ended 11,000 years ago, rather than 20,000 as previously assumed. And the last part of the vast great spread of glaciers began about 60,000 years ago, after a mild spell lasting some 30,000 years, they write in Scientific American.

Under test is a new kind of altimeter designed to increase airplane safety at airports, where as many as 60 planes may be approaching at a given time.

At a signal from ground control, this altimeter would automatically flash back the plane's altitude and identity. Radar supplies only the direction and distance of aircraft until radio contact is made with each plane.

The altimeter was designed at Case Institute of Technology, using a photographic disc made by Eastman Kodak Company. The disc registers altitude in terms of black-and-white patterns, which could be transmitted electronically to the ground. Each plane carries an identifying piece of equipment.

An improved television eye is peering into the bottom of oil wells several thousand feet deep to report on rock formations and conditions or troubles in the well.

The compact camera has a cylindrical shape, high light sensitivity and very low power needs. It can be operated at a maximum depth of nearly a mile, Shell Development Company reports.

Politics Is Charged in Pa. Probe

By FRANK J. AVATO
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Mix one special grand jury investigation of alleged scandals in City Hall with a full election for governor and a highly explosive compound of political fireworks results.
That's the mixture brewed when Common Pleas Judge Eugene Alessandrini, a republican, ordered a grand jury investigation of GOP charges of corruption in the Democratic administration of former Mayor Richardson Dilworth.
Dilworth resigned as mayor last March to become the Democratic candidate for governor. His opponent is Republican Congressman William W. Scranton of Scranton, Pa.
Dilworth says Alessandrini's ruling has political undertones since the grand jury probe—scheduled to begin Sept. 4—will plow headlong into the heart of the gubernatorial campaign. Dilworth wanted the inquiry to begin sooner.
Scranton repeatedly has attacked Dilworth's administration, and made the alleged scandals a part of his campaign, promising to clean up the city if elected governor.
Dilworth replies that any large city is likely to have some corruption, and that an investigation made during his final days as mayor went far toward curbing it.
The special investigation will be prosecuted by W. Wilson White, a Republican, who was U.S. attorney for Eastern Pennsylvania from 1953 to 1957. His first assistant in the current probe is F. Hastings Griffin Jr., also a Republican.
Democrats said Griffin smeared a campaign picture of Dilworth with cake and lipstick during a private dinner in 1952, prompting the former mayor's successor, James H. J. Tate to table Griffin "a playboy."
Griffin admitted "dressing up" Dilworth's picture, but said, "it was a silly incident and should be treated as such."
Both White and Griffin have promised an impartial, objective investigation. "It will be a non-political, no-holds-barred investigation," White said.
But a Democratic councilman took a different view.
"This is going to be an impartial probe—by partisans," he said.
The request for a grand jury probe was made by the Republican Alliance, an independent GOP group in the city. It charged a "widespread network of extortion" linked to the Democratic-controlled City Council and the party's City Committee.

Wants Satellite Action Now

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said today Congress must act now to assure U.S. leadership in the creation of a global communications satellite system.
Its deputy administrator, Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, testified it will take two or three years to establish an operational system after creation of a corporation to handle it.
He told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee he felt that in three to five years after passage of enabling legislation "there could be service substantially over the globe so people could use it from day to day."
Dryden appealed to the committee to approve, without amendment, the administration bill to set up a private corporation, half-owned by the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., and the other carriers and half by the general public, to run the U.S. part of a global satellite system.

Mrs. Finkbine Sees Doctor in Sweden

By BRACK CURRY
STOCKHOLM (AP)—Mrs. Sherri Finkbine finally saw a Swedish doctor Tuesday and is expected to seek official approval early next week for abortion of the baby she fears has been deformed by thalidomide.
Her husband, Robert, told newsmen his wife, a Phoenix, Ariz., television personality, will see the doctor again Friday. He said the application for the abortion probably will be submitted to the Royal Medical Board one day next week.
The Finkbines arrived Sunday to seek the abortion which was refused legal sanction by an Arizona court earlier. The 30-year-old brunette had taken the tranquilizer thalidomide during her early pregnancy. The drug has been blamed for the birth of several thousand European babies with deformed arms, legs and internal organs.
The Royal Medical Board has sanctioned abortions for seven other pregnant women who took thalidomide.
Finkbine said his wife, nearly three months pregnant, had not seen a doctor earlier because reports from American doctors on her condition had not arrived.
Meanwhile in Oslo, government medical councilor Jon Bjornson said five deformed babies have been born in Norway to mothers who took thalidomide. The drug was withdrawn from the market in Norway last November. More than a thousand deformed births were blamed on the drug in Germany, where it was developed.

Different tools could be attached to its telescoping arms. As shown in the drawing, two or more of the machines could carry suspended cargo pods between them. The machine—technically known as a "pedipulator"—represents a new concept in design, because the human operator would be coupled directly to the machine. # Unemployment at Stamps, DeQueen

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—DeQueen in Sevier County and Walnut Ridge in Lawrence County have been classified as areas of substantial and persistent unemployment, J. L. Bland, administrator of the Arkansas Employment Security Division, said today.
Bland said he was notified by Tracy C. Murrell, regional administrator of the Bureau of Employment Security of the classification.
Walnut Ridge and DeQueen are being recommended for designation as redevelopment areas under the Area Redevelopment Act, Bland said.
Bland said other cities in Arkansas classified as areas of substantial and persistent unemployment are Camden, Clarksville, Morrilton, Ozark, Mena, Stamps and Waldron.

Man Arrested in Death of Youth

WASHINGTON (AP)—Michael Anthony Mayola, 23, was arrested in Baltimore, Md., today in connection with the murder of a young Alabama boy, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover announced.
The body of Larry Thomas, 11, who disappeared with a stranger five days ago, was found Monday night in a shallow country grave near Oneonta, Ala. There was a bullet found near one eye.
Hoover described Mayola as a convicted sex criminal and said he had operated a barber shop in Oneonta for the last year under the name George R. Workman.
Hoover said Mayola told FBI agents he left Alabama early Monday and arrived in Baltimore by bus today.
Oneonta, where Mayola lived under the name of Workman, is in northern Alabama. Its police chief, P. H. Handy, had summoned FBI agents and police from Midfield, the Birmingham suburb where the dead youth lived.

Actress to Be Buried at Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Marilyn Monroe, the wife who won movie stardom but couldn't find happiness in her own life, goes to her final resting place today in a plain green dress.
Although invitations to final rites for the 36-year-old blonde sex symbol were limited to about 15, police prepared for the worst—a mob scene that could involve thousands of fans and curiosity seekers.
Police and movie studio guards were assigned to keep order outside the Chapel of the Palms, in nearby Westwood. By midnight a crowd of 100 already had clustered around the entrance.
The shapely actress, who specialized in gay movie roles but found sorrow and disappointment in her own life, was found dead in her bed Sunday, victim of an overdose of barbiturates.
An investigation is under way to determine whether Marilyn's death was accidental or deliberate.
Guy Hockett, managing director of the Westwood Village Mortuary gave these details of the final rites:
The movie queen, bejeweled and befringed in her many public appearances, will wear a demure, light green dress and no jewelry. The non-denominational services, expected to last about 35 minutes, will be conducted by the Rev. A. J. Soldan, Lutheran pastor of the Village Church in Westwood.
The body will lie in an open, solid bronze casket lined with champagne-colored velvet. After the services, the casket will be sealed and carried a few yards away to a crypt, where Marilyn will be entombed.
The three principals in charge of final arrangements Tuesday night explained that the rites were made private "so that she can go to her final resting place in the quiet she has always sought."

Similar ceremonies were set this afternoon in Pine Bluff for members of the 488th Engineer Battalion of Pine Bluff, Malvern, Hot Springs and Little Rock. They were to be in the Stone Army Reserve Center.

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—An Alabama couple, alleged to have passed worthless checks totaling $40,000 throughout the country, was charged here Monday with issuing a forged check for $132.43 in Little Rock.
The complaint by the FBI was filed before United States Commissioner John E. Coates against Mr. and Mrs. James Walter Brewen.
Brewen, 31, and his 21-year-old wife were arrested July 30 at Fort Smith for local violation and were remanded to the FBI when it was learned they were wanted in Dallas, Tex.
The FBI said Brewen, who does not hold a high school diploma, used various aliases in posing as a doctor in various parts of the country.

Israel Defies British Order to Take Spy

By DENNIS NEED
LONDON (AP)—Israel's state-owned airline stood firm early today in defiance of a British order to fly Dr. Robert A. Soblen to the United States by midnight tonight.
Israeli Ambassador Arthur Lourie expressed hope Tuesday night that the three-nation dispute over the fugitive American spy would "shortly be satisfactorily resolved." But an embassy spokesman indicated that no solution has been found for the international deadlock.
"If Britain wants to get rid of Dr. Soblen, it will have to change its attitude," the embassy spokesman asserted.
Home Secretary Henry Brooke has ordered the airline, El Al, to fly Soblen out of Britain to New York by midnight. The Israeli government told the airline to transfer him back to Israel only "and under no circumstances to New York."
An El Al plane for New York left without Soblen Tuesday. The airline doesn't have another New York flight until Friday. However, it does have a plane leaving for Israel about noon today.
The home office said it was holding to its order to the airline to fly Soblen to the United States. "If El Al doesn't make a move by midnight, the home secretary will have to consider his next step," a spokesman said.
Soblen, 61 and dying of leukemia, remained in London's Brixton Prison, hoping to go to Israel. If he gets there, he plans a court fight to remain as a Jewish immigrant. If that is unsuccessful, he probably will go to Communist Czechoslovakia, which has offered him asylum.
Soblen jumped $100,000 bail in New York late in June and, using a dead brother's passport, fled to Israel to escape a life sentence for wartime spying for Russia. Israel put him on a plane for the United States with a U.S. marshal, but he stabbed himself in flight and was landed in Britain for treatment.

To the Citizens of Hempstead County:

As your County Coroner, I wish to make this announcement regarding my candidacy for re-election. At the time for filing with the Central Committee I was detained in surgery. Therefore, I was unable to meet the deadline for filing, and for this reason my name was not on the ballot in the Primary Election.

A number of people have asked me to continue to serve as your county coroner, and to go before the people as a write in candidate in the General Election. If my name is written in on the November ballot, and if re-elected I will consider it a privilege and an honor to continue to serve as your County Coroner.

Thanking you for your continued support:

Foster—Anthony Vows Exchanged

In a candlelight ceremony at the First Presbyterian Church Miss Sheila Foster and Beryl Franklin Anthony, Jr. exchanged their marriage vows at 8:00 in the evening, August 4. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Walker Foster of Hope, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Beryl F. Anthony of El Dorado.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of candlelight peau de soie. The fitted bodice and elbow sleeves were embroidered in seed pearls and crystal beads in flower motifs. The modified bell skirt had a slim front and draped softly over the side fronts. These folds were repeated in the back and ended in a Watteau train. Her veil of silk illusion was attached to a flat bow of pearl-embroidered peau de soie.

DOROTHY DIX

Female on the Prowl

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: I should be the happiest woman in the world; get to college. My grades are good, despite the difficulty of dreading, beautiful home, money in the bank. Instead, I'm a caged lioness, nervous, uneasy, dissatisfied. The reason is my nine-year-old daughter's handsome school teacher. What a man! More about him later.

First, you've got to understand me. Though 31, I wear size 10; the blonde hair in a pony-tail and look like the 17-year-old I was when my husband and I ran off and got married in 1948. Re-sult? Men still go for me, that is, all of them do but the handsome school teacher. To date I've never been unfaithful to my husband but feeling as I do now, Lord knows what the future will bring.

The teacher is just my age. We used to run into one another when I called for my little girl at school. Then he was no more than a piece of furniture, though I noticed that he usually hung around, same as other men do. One morning last spring I turned on the radio while I washed the breakfast dishes and this teacher's name was the first thing I heard. He's been hurt in an auto crash and taken to the hospital. I had to cling to the kitchen sink for support. It mattered not that he was married, and our lives running on separate tracks, my whole world seemed to crash. I couldn't sleep that night.

He was at school the following week, looking pale and still in pain. All I said was "How are you feeling?" He said, "A bit shaky." Next week he went back to the hospital and I nearly went out of my mind. Why should this happen to me over a man I hardly know? When he eventually returned to school I threw pride to the wind and asked him to stop by my home. He came and we talked for an hour and a half in the garden. He promised to meet me again and said he would phone but never has. Once, he drove right past me in the street without stopping.

I am in living hell. My sister and you are the only two people who know. She said forget him. That I can't do. My husband though kind, never pays me any attention. His hobby is restoring old automobiles. That's how his weekends and spare time are spent. My life is so empty. Help me!—Truly Heartbroken.

Dear Truly: This man, though tempted, obviously doesn't propose to get involved since both you and he are married. If this was really love, you would leave him alone. See this obsession for what it is—a purely physical attraction. Don't be a female on the prowl. Work on your husband instead of this teacher. Help him with those cars. Make his hobbies yours and he'll notice you again. If your love was strong enough to elope with him it can be revived.

Dear Helen: I was just sitting here in my room this evening, listening to the radio and feeling at peace with the world when my mother stormed in and damned me to hell and back for putting pre-lace mats, instead of a cloth on the dinner table. After screaming at me for 15 long minutes she blurted out and I lapsed into my usual depressed mood of anger, frustration and helplessness. To keep from talking back I bit my pillow and own hand. Often I sit there and dig my nails into my legs. It doesn't hurt till she leaves, then the gouging stings. At times I want to kill her, she is such a fiend. I try to understand her, to realize she had a hard childhood and now takes it out on me, but that doesn't change my feelings. When I was little she used to beat me with my Dad's belt and if I cried she'd yell, "Stop crying!" Now I'm almost 17 and she no longer does from this because I refuse to cry any more. My dad lets her have her will with me. I'll be a senior this autumn and plan to work hard to get to college. My grades are good, despite the difficulty of studying at home. The dean of girls seems to understand and helps me in small ways. But I can't go on like this. Help me to find a way out.—Miss X

Dear Miss: Obviously your mother is emotionally unstable. Normal parents don't scream and yell or go to pieces over anything as inconsequential as the setting of a dining table. Recognize this and shape your life accordingly. Ask your friend, the dean of girls, if there isn't a scholarship in a girls boarding school or junior college away from home for which you could apply. Tell her frankly about conditions.

Dear Helen: My husband and I are nearing 70. All the aches, pains and fears of old age plague us. This is so at variance to the gay, cheerful and happy-go-lucky spirit of our youth. What can we do to prevent us being a burden to ourselves and others?—In the Discard

Dear In: The fear of old age has got you both down. Dispel its shadow by reversing your thinking. This is a case of mind over matter. Which wins depends upon the positive or negative approach. Refuse to give in to these nebulous aches and pains. Say, "I shall," instead of "I can't." Live for a day at a time. Begin it by doing some one thing for another person. In the doing, you will forget self and that, of course, is all important.

State Farm Income Less Than 1961

By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cash income of Arkansas farmers from sales of crops and livestock dropped off somewhat in the first five months of the year as compared with the corresponding period of 1961.

For the first five months of this year Arkansas farmers took in a total of $160,453,000 from their marketings as against $187,774,000 for the January-May period of 1961.

However, this decline is not necessarily significant since the bulk of Arkansas farm income from crops and livestock comes in the last four months of the year, due chiefly to marketing of the cotton crop in that period.

A check of the latest Agriculture Department report on cash income of farmers shows that except for January, Arkansas farmers have done as well each month this year as they did last.

The drop in January, as compared with January of the pre-lapse year, was slightly over $8 million—the amount of the decline for the five-month period. This would reflect the fact that in January, 1961, Arkansas farmers sold a sizeable amount of their 1960 cotton crop, whereas last January sales of the 1961 crop were not so large.

The report shows that for the first five months of 1962 Arkansas farmers took in $62,718,000 from crops and $97,741,000 from livestock and livestock products, compared with $64,416,000 and $101,038,000 respectively in the 1961 period.

For the entire year of 1961 Arkansas farmers realized a total of $799,959,000, including $499,299,000 from crops and $270,660,000 from livestock and livestock products. These figures do not reflect any

No More Bad Drug in State

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—No supply of the drug thalidomide remains in the hands of four Arkansas doctors given it on an experimental basis, a spokesman for the federal Food and Drug Administration reported Monday.

The tranquilizer is blamed for causing widespread birth defects and was distributed to some doctors in the United States on an experimental basis but was not sold commercially.

Dr. J. T. Herron, the health officer, said no reports have been received of any babies born in Arkansas with defects induced by thalidomide.

Names of the four Arkansas doctors have not been released nor would the FDA say if any of the drug had been given to pregnant Arkansas women.

money which farmers take in under government farm programs.

Arkansas was only one of two states in the south central region which showed a drop in farm income for the five-month period, the other being Kentucky with a decline of $10 million.

Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee showed increases.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, conservative Republican from Arizona, let his political prejudices show the other night during the Senate filibuster—and wished Arkansas Sen. J. William Fulbright, Democrat, no good.

The Senate was tied up over the communications satellite bill the night of the Arkansas primary election. A suggestion had been made that the bill be sent to Fulbright's Foreign Relations Committee for scrutiny since some negotiations with foreign countries would be involved in the satellite ground station setup.

Goldwater didn't like the idea and thought further delay might result.

Why, he said, "The chairman (Fulbright) is not even present. I cannot blame him. He is seeking reelection in Arkansas tonight—I hope unsuccessfully."

Memories of the Famous Movie Star

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
(Last of three Marilyn Monroe articles)

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Memories of Marilyn.

When I saw Marilyn Monroe for the last time, she had the figure of a starlet, but the unmistakable aura of a star.

It was two months ago on the set of "Something's Got to Give," and she gave one of her last interviews.

Actually it was more like a conversation with an old friend, for she was warm and witty. She was still glowing from her tumultuous reception at President Kennedy's birthday celebration in Madison Square Garden.

She looked great. Gone was the pot tummy that she had displayed in recent movies. She had dropped 15 pounds and I asked her how she did it.

"It helps to have a bad gall bladder," said Marilyn, who had hers removed a year ago. "The rest is low cholesterol. Avoid animal fats. Who needs them? Eskimos, maybe. Not us."

She talked gaily of her forthcoming 36th birthday and said: "I like celebrating birthdays. I enjoy knowing that I'm alive."

She was doing a scene with two child actors who were playing her children in the film. Her concern for them was strangely touching. The boy was shivering after a swimming scene, and she wouldn't continue until an electric heater was installed to warm him.

Between scenes her conversation was punctuated with high laughter. Despite her exhilaration, there was an undertone of the trouble that lay ahead.

I mentioned that the studio was unhappy with her absence because she went to the President's birthday party, especially since she had been out of the picture many days with illness.

"I told the studio six weeks ago that I was going," she snapped. "I consider it an honor to appear before the President of the United States."

It was shortly afterward that relations with the studio erupted with her firing and the hurrying of threats and lawsuits. Marilyn dropped into seclusion.

Everyone has his own memories of Marilyn Monroe. My own go back to her early days on the same lot, when she was a young and eager starlet. She seemed little different from the throng of starlets in the talent factories of that era, except perhaps that she gave a better interview.

And when you saw her on the screen for the first time—slithering on a couch as Louis Calhern's mistress in "Asphalt Jungle"—you knew that she had that quality that separates stars from starlets.

There were other places, other times, but there won't be any more. The Marilyn Monroe story is over.

It will long be debated whether she was an actress. No one will ever doubt that she was a star.

Doctor Gets Award for Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Frances O. Kelsey, who blocked marketing of the drug thalidomide in the United States, pronounced herself impressed and overwhelmed today as President Kennedy hung a gold medal around her neck.

The medal was the award for distinguished federal civilian service, highest honor for government workers. Five other officials also were chosen to receive this year's medal.

Dr. Kelsey, 48, Food and Drug Administration medical officer, was attired in a blue dress and blue beret-type hat.

She doesn't use cosmetics, and hence wore no lipstick. But she did make one concession to the occasion. She left at home her flat-heeled shoes.

Marilyn Had Very Little Education

EDITOR'S NOTE - AP Hollywood columnist Bob Thomas knew Marilyn Monroe from the beginning of her Hollywood career. In the second of a three-part series of articles, he writes an intimate view of the life of the world's most famous blonde.

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—For a girl with scant education, Marilyn Monroe surprised many by being articulate and witty.

She left Van Nuys, Calif., High School in her second year, but her education didn't end there. During one of our first interviews in her starlet days, she proudly reported that she had only one charge account, at a Beverly Hills book store.

She liked to hobnob with literary giants like Dame Edith Sitwell and Carl Sandburg. Once she happily told me that Sandburg pointed a finger at her during a Hollywood party and proclaimed: "You are not what is wrong with America."

She wrote her own poetry, though she showed it to few. When she entered the New York phase of her life, she was fascinated with the literary crowd. Significantly, her last husband was one of America's leading men of letters, Arthur Miller.

Whether she could articulate her own personal stresses through psychiatry is not known. But she did speak ably for print concerning her life and views.

Among her reflections: "I had 11 or 12 sets of them. I don't want to count them again—it depresses me. Some families kept me longer; others got tired of me in a short time. I must have made them nervous or something."

Her acting beginnings—"When I was five—I think that's when started wanting to be an actress—I loved to play. I didn't like the world around me because it was kind of grim—but I loved to play house and it was like you could make your own boundaries."

Sex—"Sex is a part of nature. I'd rather go along with nature." Her lateness—"It's not really me who's late. It's the others who are in such a hurry."

Dress—"I'll confess that a very small percentage of my apparel is selected solely as a protection against the elements. When I buy a dress, I want it to do something for me. I want to make me more attractive and that means more attractive to men."

Wealth—"I don't care about money. I just want to be wonderful."

Fame—"I now live in my work and in a few relationships with the few people I can really count on. Fame will go by and, so long, I've had you, fame. If it goes by, I've always known it was fickle. So at least it's something I've experienced, but that's not where I live."

LET'S GUESS
By LEE PRIESTLEY

It was real handy for me that Miss Amy Bannerman lived with her mother next door to the place Joe and I bought when we got married.

Miss Amy was a good neighbor and so I grew fond of her. But I never could like her mother, Miss Amy was tiny, meek and mousy, quiet and smart as they come. Old Mrs. Bannerman was big, sloppy and so loud and unreasonable my Joe said she would have made a dandy Army top kick. Even after she broke her hip at 90 she rolled around in a wheel chair seeing that everything was done her way.

Not even to me did Miss Amy act relieved when the brakes on the wheel chair failed one day and Mama trundled out into the five o'clock traffic. But she did enjoy having her own way for the first time in her life. I found her eating supper in the parlor using the best china.

"We always ate in the kitchen to save work," she explained, "and kept the Haviland for company."

She washed the dishes and arranged them in the cupboard. "I do like things in order," she said. "Poor Mama never put anything away in the same place twice."

That fall Miss Amy gave a truck load of stuff to the rummage sale. "Poor Mama never threw away a scrap," she said, "but I don't keep things I can't use."

One day when I ran in she sat at the kitchen table staring at a letter and wearing a scarlet sweater. "Isn't that new?" I asked.

She stroked the sleeve absently. "I always wanted a red sweater over again, big and bossy and untidy and a non-stop talker. No more foolishness like meals in the parlor. Stop fussing with the cupboards. And that sweater makes you look like a mouse drowned in a red ink bottle."

Miss Amy became even more meek. She worried about tramps. She never missed a story in the paper about helpless old people being tortured so they'd tell where their money was hidden. Before long she was making her sister nervous, too.

Then one day a police car, the ambulance and some of the neighbors stood in front of the Bannerman house. Four men came out carrying a long heavy basket. It wasn't Miss Amy who might weigh 85 pounds.

A woman told me what had happened. The blast of the shotgun had awakened Miss Amy. She found her sister dead on the attic floor.

"Mrs. Waggoner must have heard something during the night," the neighbor said. "So she had gone to get her husband's gun that was stored up there. It's always the unloaded guns that kill people. She didn't know what hit her, poor thing."

Miss Amy came in. I put my arm around her shoulders and said whatever you say at such a time. She patted my hand and nodded. Then she went over to the cupboard.

"Thank you for your sympathy, dear," she said, moving a cup out of a soup plate and sorting saucers from salad plates. "I tell myself that everything must be for the best."

I told Joe about it later. "Isn't she wonderful? A meek little mouse like that?"

"It's a good thing mice don't come any bigger," Joe said. The End

Airbase Not to Get Polio Shots

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Little Rock Air Force Base announced Monday that the 10,000 persons within its confines will not participate in Pulaski County's overall polio vaccine program in September.

Capt. Dr. Lawrence A. Adams told the Pulaski County Medical Society of the decision at the society's meeting Monday night. Doctors said they would take the matter up with the surgeon general of the U.S., if necessary, to get the base to participate in the campaign, in which every resident of the county is to be given the oral vaccine in lumps of sugar.

Adams said the base would conduct its own program on a voluntary basis in September. He said base personnel would be allowed to participate on a voluntary basis in the county program.

The doctors said such action might mean that the base and the rest of the county might be giving different polio immunizations at different times and the viruses given might interfere with each other in producing immunity to the disease.

To become immune, a person must take three doses of different viruses, one for each type of polio.

Kubek Returns With a Homer, Yankees Win

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The regular Wednesday meeting of the second guessers society will now come to order.

The subject of today's session is manager Mike Huggins of the Boston Red Sox.

The Los Angeles Angels were playing the Red Sox Tuesday, and no-hitter pitcher Earl Wilson was sailing along without allowing an Angel past second base. The Sox were leading, 1-0. Wilson got the first man in the month.

Now, second guessers, do you go to the bullpen?

Huggins, who had only one guess, did. Arnold Earley came in, wild pitched the runners along, walked Leon Wagner to lead the bases, and yielded a two-run single to Bob Rodgers. Dick Radatz took over and gave up the final run on a sacrifice fly.

Los Angeles 3, Boston 1. Well, better luck next time, Mike.

Elsewhere in the American League, the New York Yankees shoved Minnesota five games behind with a 14-1 pasting. Ray Herbert pitched the Chicago White Sox to a 4-0 win over the Baltimore Orioles. The Cleveland Indians trimmed the Detroit Tigers 4-2, and the Kansas City Athletics trounced the Washington Senators 10-3 in the only night game on the card.

Don Drysdale's Biggest Year

LOS ANGELES (AP) — This is the biggest year so far in big Don Drysdale's seven-year major league pitching career.

By going the route and beating the New York Mets Tuesday night, 7-5, the Los Angeles Dodger right-hander scored his 21st victory against four losses. It was his 100th win since he first put on a Brooklyn Dodger uniform in 1956. He never has won more than 17 in a year.

Drysdale posted his 21st victory as the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the New York Mets, 7-5. The San Francisco Giants hung on 4½ games back, by beating the Philadelphia Phils, 4-2. Cincinnati beat Houston 3-0. St. Louis knocked off Pittsburgh 5-0 and Milwaukee beat the Chicago Cubs, 4-1.

The Yankee-Twins game was played between two violent rain storms that came too early and too late for the Minnesota team. Tony Kubek, in his first time at bat since he returned from nine months of Army duty, smashed a three-run homer that capped a five-run Yankee first inning.

Camilo Pascual (15-7) was the victim as the Yankees snapped a three game losing streak. Ralph Terry (16-9) got the victory.

Billy Cannon Extends Pact

HOUSTON (AP) — Billy Cannon

extended his contract with the American Football League Champion Houston Oilers through the 1965 season today by signing a new three-year contract for more than $100,000.

It was the second $100,000-plus contract for the former All-American halfback since he won the Heisman Trophy at Louisiana State in 1959.

The document tacks three more years on the 1960 contract that prompted a court fight between the Oilers and the Los Angeles Rams of the rival National Football League.

Mrs. Stengel Slightly Hurt

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mrs.

Edna Stengel, wife of New York Met Manager Casey Stengel, was bruised on the jaw when hit by a flying splintered bat during the Met-Los Angeles Dodger game Tuesday night.

The bat broke when Willie Davis fouled off a pitch in the fifth inning.

The upper part of the bat shot into the stands and hit Mrs. Stengel sitting in one of the front rows. The injury was not serious. She was treated by Dodger doctors and driven to her home in nearby Glendale. She said she will join her husband in New York Sunday as previously planned.

Night Fishing Is Popular in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Most sportsmen had rather talk about fishing than do it at this time of the year. Daily thermometer readings of 90-plus are enough to discourage both fish and fishermen.

But those willing to try something different are sometimes rewarded with heavy-laden stringers under very comfortable conditions.

One simple technique involves night fishing with a lantern using minnows for bait. This is widely used in big reservoirs such as lakes Norfolk and Ouachita, whose waters are quite clear.

"This type of fishing is best done in the dark of the moon," said W. M. "Bill" Apple of Little Rock, a veteran angler and long-time leader in wildlife organizations. "The light from the lantern is the key to success."

"Get a bucket of minnows for bait and anchor your boat in about 35 feet of water off some sloping point. Then hang one, or preferably two, gasoline lanterns over the side of the boat."

"In clear water, this light will reflect all the way to the bottom. The light in the water will attract minnows and small fish."

"In time, larger fish will congregate to feed on the small fry. When they do, that's the time to start fishing."

Patience is the chief requirement in this method, Apple said. It takes anywhere from 30 minutes to 2 hours for conditions to get "right" for fishing.

"Put a sinker on your line and drop the minnow straight to the bottom," he said. "Then reel up about six inches."

Crappe and white bass are most susceptible to this approach, but fishing with live minnows is likely also to produce black bass and even an occasional big catfish.

Sometimes it's a problem to lower a minnow through the small fish down to a level where the bigger ones are active. Bait stealing can be aggravating. But when action is good, it sometimes can

Judge Refuses to Dismiss Railway Suit

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal judge declined today to dismiss an injunction suit to prevent the nation's railroads from putting into effect rail job slashes recommended by a presidential commission.

Instead, U.S. Dist. Judge Joseph Sam Perry said the court wants to determine whether those recommendations or a later notice from the railroads for even more drastic job eliminations is valid.

The railroads have issued two notices to their 200,000 operating employees.

One notice would wipe out immediately the jobs of about 13,000 diesel firemen and later gradually eliminate 27,000 other such jobs by not replacing workers when vacancies occur.

Other notices would, among other things, wipe out the 40,000 jobs at once and eliminate other instances of what the carriers call "featherbedding" or unnecessary jobs.

The five operating rail unions filed an injunction suit against the notice from the carriers that followed the recommendations of a presidential commission.

be very good.

"I remember once when a friend and I caught 40 nice crappie in about two hours," Apple said.

Fishing at night is comfortable even after the hottest days, and lantern fishing doesn't require much activity or moving around.

Night fishing with artificial bait also is recommended by reservoir fishermen who consistently catch big bass.

Sam Welch, who chronicles fishing reports from Bull Shoals Lake, advocates night bait casting with special refinements.

Welch favors such lures as plastic worms and jig-eel combinations fished along the bottom with a super slow retrieve.

The theory is that the big ones are somewhat sluggish by nature, especially in hot weather, and are reluctant to move far.

Welch and his disciples, through experience and observation, learn where the lunkers are mostly likely to be. They then stealthily approach these sites by night, then probe the bottom levels with their deep running lures.

They don't always bring in a full stringer of monsters, but do catch trophy bass often enough to excite the envy of less dedicated anglers.

Hurlers Have a Good Night in National

By MIKE RTHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

On a night when two masters of the pitching fraternity—Don Drysdale and Joey Jay—continued their sizzling efforts, there was a half hour stretch when Ernie Broglio was the hottest pitcher in the majors.

Broglio posted his second consecutive four-hitter for his fifth straight victory as St. Louis blanked Pittsburgh 5-0 Tuesday night and he continued to pitch while a fire blazed behind him in the right field stands at Forbes Field.

The blaze, which started among some tarpaulins and empty rubbish hampers, broke out while Broglio was coasting along with a two-hitter in the seventh inning. With the flames clearly visible, Broglio got two more out and gave up a hit before play was halted.

Broglio sat down while firemen did their work, then returned after a 27-minute wait and finished up a sparkling job to continue his comeback efforts. The 1960 21-game winner, who fell to 9-12 last year, now is 9-4.

Drysdale, the 26-year-old right-hander trying to become the first 30-game winner since Dizzy Dean in 1934, recorded victory, No. 21, and his 11th in a row as the National League leading Los Angeles Dodgers whipped the New York Mets 7-5.

Jay, who along with Milwaukee's Warren Spahn were the only 20-game winners in the league last year, won No. 17 by limiting Houston's punchless Collis to four hits while homers by Gordie Coleman and Frank Robinson powered third-place Cincinnati to a 3-0 victory.

It was a pitchers' day all around. In the other games, Juan Marichal bested Art Mahaffey as the second-place San Francisco Giants remained 4½ games behind the Dodgers by defeating Philadelphia 4-2, and Lew Burdette hurled Milwaukee to a 4-1 triumph over the Chicago Cubs.

In the American League, the first-place New York Yankees walloped second-place Minnesota, 14-1. The Los Angeles Angels beat Boston 3-1. Cleveland topped Detroit 4-2, the Chicago White Sox shut out Baltimore 4-0 and Kansas City belted Washington 10-3.

Fulbright Cites Outside Interference

By BILL SIMMONS

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Senator J. William Fulbright voiced his appreciation today for the 2-1 majority he received in the Democratic primary last Tuesday, and he struck out at what he called "outside interference" in the campaign.

Fulbright called a news conference and said he was thankful for the primary victory over Winston Chandler of Little Rock.

He said, he had heard reports that money from outside Arkansas was used against him in the campaign. He also showed newsmen a letter endorsing Chandler and opposing Fulbright. The letter, which he said was received by the Northwest Arkansas Times in Fayetteville, was signed by H. L. Hunt of Dallas, Tex.

The letter said Hunt had spent 20 years planting cotton in Chicot County, and later drilling wells near El Dorado. Fulbright said similar letters went to prominent people and other news media around the state.

The letter accused the State Department and Fulbright's Senate Foreign Relations Committee of having a "no win" policy.

"I realize that foreign aid is a very unpopular program," Fulbright said. "More people disapprove of my foreign aid program than with any other issue."

But often I do not support it with the enthusiasm I would support, for instance, the development of Arkansas," he said.

"It is a great sadness you feel when you have to spend money on this kind of program," he said. "But, I regret, I feel the security of the country needs this. I do what the best informed people say is necessary for the security of our country."

This, he said is "our defense against Communism."

"Chandler has no record to be judged on," the senator said. "I believe the people who voted against me were not voting for him. They were simply voting their ideas, which differed from mine on several issues."

Fulbright said among the other reasons persons could have voted against him is his support of federal aid to education.

"I much prefer educational aid on a local level," he said. "But this state was poorer when I first went to the Congress (in 1946), and perhaps in 10 years we can do a satisfactory job."

In many cases, Fulbright said, the federal government has provided money to education without interfering with it.

50 Clinics Planned

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The

Pulaski County Medical Society will man 50 clinics in the Little Rock area Sept. 30 when it launches its mass polio immunization program. The clinics, where oral doses of Sabine vaccine will be administered, will be located at schools throughout the county. The program is part of a statewide immunization project of the Arkansas Medical Society.

Duck Flights to Decline on Flyways

WASHINGTON (AP) — There will be small to moderate declines in wild duck flights in all four waterfowl flyways this fall, the Interior Department said today.

This bad news for duck-hunters indicating that already stringent limitations on the taking of ducks generally will be continued or possibly tightened for the 1962-63 season—was given the Waterfowl Advisory Committee.

However there were indications that changes to liberalize the bag and possession limit may be made in areas which have an overabundance of one or more species.
